Re: Erratum, Newdow v. Congress, Case No. 06-16344

Dear Sir or Madam:

This correspondence is being made to correct an error that has been inadvertently repeated in Plaintiff's filings. In the Excerpts of Record, it is stated that "In God We Trust" is printed on "thirty-seven million currency notes ... every year." EOR at 85. This was referenced in the Opening Brief at page 38.

In actuality, that is the average number of currency notes printed each (working) day. The number of notes produced each year is approximately two hundred fifty times that "thirty-seven million" figure. As stated by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, "[d]uring Fiscal Year 2007, it cost approximately 6.2 cents per note to produce 9.1 billion U.S. paper currency notes."¹

Respectfully submitted,

Michael Newdow, in pro per
